

Inspiration

#LuxeDaily

Design Resources

Architecture

Spaces

Styles

All

Contemporary

Country

Eclectic

Mediterranean

Modern

Mountain

Traditional

Transitional

White Spanish Style Front Elevation

 SAVE f t p

Architect: Linda Brettler Architect

Home Builder: M.S. Elite General Construction Inc.

Landscape Architect: Dee Paul/Landscapes

This 1920s Spanish-style house by architect George H. Fruehling is perched on an acre in the Hollywood Hills. The 11,000-square-foot house and grounds came complete with a meandering brook, a grotto and a faux-bois bridge.

photography: Dominique Vorillon

Inspiration

#LuxeDaily

Design Resources

Architecture

Spaces

Styles

All

Contemporary

Country

Eclectic

Mediterranean

Modern

Mountain

Traditional

Transitional

Multi-Colored Mediterranean Terrace With Pool

 SAVE f t p

Architect: Linda Brettler Architect

The architect renovated the terrace around the existing pool and, with landscape designer Dee Paul, added a wall punctuated by arches and built in benches. Brettler also replastered the wall above the pool and created a focal point with Moroccan patterned tile from Malibu Tile Works.

photography: Dominique Vorillon